From the Governors

Happy New Year Everyone!

We, the new Governors of 2021, Governor Michael Toledo, Jr., 1st Lt. Michael Chinana, and 2nd Lt./Pecos Governor Kurt Mora, would like to take this moment to address our community. We are humbled that we have been called upon to serve the obligations as tribal leaders during this time of great need. Your health and safety is our first and primary concern. We understand the challenges we face, not only with the pandemic but also with the effects and toll it has taken on each and every one of us in our daily lives. As our priority remains to focus on the pandemic, we will continue to serve our Tribe and people's needs as delegated by our traditional leaders. So many of the annual transitional practices have changed, and although we have not seen and completed all other traditional activities to the end, please remember that our spirits will complete the process for us in their own way as we continue through the year.

At this time, we ask all of you to remain patient and trust that we are doing everything we can to accommodate all of our needs to get through the complications placed in our daily lives. Thus far, we have implemented additional enhancements regarding the rules and regulations as a result of the pandemic, such as penalties for social gatherings and stricter checkpoint rules. We ask everyone to remain vigilant and continue to abide by all safety measures communicated by local and national health officials. COVID-19 is a very serious virus that has impacted families and individuals within our community. Therefore, the safety measures we have communicated should not be taken lightly. Whether you have not contracted COVID-19, or have contracted COVID-19 and/or have received the vaccination, ALL safety measures need to be followed regardless! We ask you all to follow the directives we have set forth for our community's health and well-being.

We have strong faith for a better outlook this year as vaccinations are being administered in our community. Our priority for the vaccines is our elders, those with health concerns, and all tribal members. Please also understand employees and workers that enter the pueblo are also in consideration for vaccinations. Please continue to have hope and continue to pray in our traditional ways for our community members to not contract COVID-19, and let us pray for those that have become ill because of COVID-19. Let us also remember those we have lost due to the pandemic and pray for those families to heal and recover. Please be grateful that we all still have one another and continue to safely remain in contact with loved ones. As you have now recognized all of our Tribal Leadership and Tribal Officials that have been called upon this year, we ask that you respect and adhere to all of our orders as we continue to pray for a prosperous year.

*Thank you,
2021 Governors and Tribal Officials!*

PUEBLO OF JEMEZ

From the Governors Continued....

As of December 31, the Pueblo of Jemez currently has 31 active, positive cases for COVID-19. Unfortunately, an unauthorized social gathering held during the Christmas holiday has resulted in several new community members being ordered to quarantine due to exposure to a COVID-19 positive case. As social gatherings (defined as a gathering of 5 or more people, inside or outside a home) continue to occur and continue to be the primary source of the spread of COVID-19 in the Jemez community, the Pueblo of Jemez Governors will no longer permit social gatherings to be hosted. We, as a community, must protect each other, our elders, and our children. New Mexico is also beginning to see another increase in the number of new COVID-19 cases per day. The table reflects the number of new cases for December 23, 2020 - December 29, 2020. As the new Leadership of 2021, we reiterate to all community/tribal members (including those living within and outside of the community) that now is NOT the time to be gathering with individuals who are not within your household. To minimize the number of COVID-19 active cases, the Pueblo of Jemez Governors fully supports all tribal efforts to mitigate the spread of this virus in our community and has extended the community lockdown to March 31, 2021.

We will continue to designate days for essential shopping. Saturdays will not be permitted as an essential day unless otherwise authorized by the Pueblo of Jemez Governors. Exceptions will be made for medical appointments if a proof is provided. The following schedule will continue, based on the first letter of the person's last name:

Last name (beginning initial)	Designated Day
A-F	Monday
G-S	Tuesday
T-Z	Wednesday

The following guidance will be in effect with the extended community lockdown:

- Trips to the transfer station will only be permitted on essential days.
- Curfew is 8:00 PM - 5:00 AM, seven days a week.
- Only two people in the vehicle. Please continue to protect our community, our elders, and our children by keeping them safe and at home.
- Farmers and ranchers will be allowed to enter and tend to their duties.
- Wood haulers will be allowed through the checkpoint, provided they possess a valid wood permit.
- Non-residents will not be allowed through checkpoints unless it is for farming or ranching purposes. Minimal interaction with tribal residents is required.
- Access through checkpoints for emergencies will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.
- You will be turned around and not allowed to leave or enter the Pueblo if your reason is deemed unnecessary.
- Social gatherings will no longer be permitted within the boundaries of the Jemez community. You must stay in your own households.
- Continue to practice hand hygiene, social distancing, and always wear a mask when you are in public.
- If you are sick, please remain at home, call 575-834-7413,

and ask to speak to a nurse for further instructions.

The 2021 Leadership will assess new directives for the following penalties for unauthorized social gatherings:

- If any community resident hosts a social gathering. In that case, the Pueblo of Jemez will recognize this as a Civil Offense, and the head of the household will be issued a warning as a First Offense. This citation will be issued by the Pueblo of Jemez Police Department of the Pueblo of Jemez sheriff/ Governors' aides. If a subsequent social gathering should occur after the First Offense, a Second Offense citation will be issued along with a $250 fine. This Second Offense, along with the $250 fine, will be issued to the head of household and will be expected to be paid within 30 days. This will be effective immediately.
- Additionally, cultural practices have been occurring where community-member singing groups have held performances. Although this practice will be allowed, these groups must request approval from the Governors before their performance.

- Community members entering or leaving the community on foot or by bicycle breaks lockdown rules and regulations. Such unauthorized travel will no longer be allowed; it will be monitored by the PD and tribal officials and will be subject to fines.

We appreciate your cooperation and understanding as we navigate through this pandemic. We thank you for your continued efforts in protecting the Jemez community. Let's continue to stand together, and let's continue to fight the COVID-19 virus as one community.

All questions or concerns regarding COVID-19 matters shall be directed to the JHHS Response Team via email at jhhsresponseteam@jemezpueblo.us or 575-834-3308.

Tips to Prevent Freezing Pipes

As you know, New Mexico has experienced frigid temperatures and is expecting another cold front with temperatures in the single digits. Here are some tips to prevent from freezing or, worse, bursting, which can lead to more damage:

- Turn up the heat. Set up fans to blow heat into cold rooms.
- Open vanity or cabinet doors so warm air can reach the pipes under sinks.
- Disconnect garden hoses from outdoor faucets. Even “frost-proof” faucets can burst if a hose is connected.
- A Tiny trickle from faucets protects pipes in two ways:
  - First, it prevents pressure from building up inside pipes.
  - Second, it creates a constant flow of water through pipes, and that makes freezing much less likely.

Importance of Maintaining Chlorine Residuals in a Drinking Water Distribution System

Water comes from various sources, such as lakes and wells, which can be contaminated with germs that may make people sick. Germs can also contaminate water as it travels through miles of piping to get to a community. To prevent contamination with germs, water systems add a disinfectant, usually, chlorine that kills disease-causing germs. Chlorine (Cl) is a naturally existing element used to disinfect drinking water and has been added to drinking water in America since about 1900.

Different processes can be used to achieve safe levels of chlorine in drinking water. Using or drinking water with small amounts of chlorine does not cause harmful health effects and protects against waterborne disease outbreaks.

The presence of free chlorine (also known as chlorine residual, free chlorine residual, residual chlorine) in drinking water indicates the following:

- A sufficient amount of chlorine was added initially to the water to inactivate the bacteria and some viruses that cause diarrheal diseases; and,
- The water is protected from recontamination during storage

Chlorinated water can taste and smell different than untreated water.

Your water system monitors water quality regularly to provide you with safe drinking water. Some people are more sensitive than others to chemicals and changes in their environment. Individuals who have health concerns should seek medical advice from their health care provider.

Preventing Cervical Cancer

Submitted by Dawn Dozhier, PA-C, Physician Assistant

January is Cervical Health Awareness Month

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) more than half of new cervical cancer cases occur among women who have never been screened or are not up-to-date with screening."

National Cervical Cancer Coalition

Pap smears can prevent cervical cancer and provide early detection, allowing more successful treatment of cancers.

Women age 21 to 65 should be screened for cervical cancer with a regular Pap smear (Pap test).

Testing is recommended every three to five years, depending on the previous testing frequency and types.

Women who have had abnormal Pap results may need to be screened more often, initially six to 12 months after the abnormal Pap smear.

Women who have not been tested regularly never had a Pap smear, or have a history of abnormal Pap smears have the highest risk of cervical cancer. Smoking increases this risk.

All providers at the Jemez Medical Clinic can perform Pap testing.

A gynecologist is available at the Clinic once a month to provide specialty care and Pap testing.

HPV vaccinations can prevent cervical cancer in younger women up to age 26.

Boys and girls and young men and women up to age 26 should get a human papillomavirus infection (HPV) vaccination at the Clinic.

Cervical Cancer: Symptoms and Signs

Approved by the Cancer.Net Editorial Board, February 2019.

Most women do not have any signs or symptoms of a precancer, but many women with early-stage cervical cancer have symptoms. In women with advanced and metastatic cancers, the symptoms may be more severe depending on the tissues and organs to which the disease has spread. The symptom's cause may be a different medical condition that is not cancer, which is why women must seek medical care if they have a new symptom that does not go away.

Any of the following could be signs or symptoms of cervical cancer:

- Blood spots or light bleeding between periods.
- Menstrual bleeding is longer and heavier than usual.
- Bleeding after intercourse, douching, or a pelvic examination.
- Increased discharge.
- Pain during intercourse.
- Bleeding after menopause.
- Unexplained, persistent pelvic, and back pain.

Report any of these symptoms to your doctor, even if they appear to be symptoms of other, less severe conditions. The earlier precancerous cells or cancer is found and treated, the better the chance that cancer can be prevented or cured. If cervical cancer is diagnosed, relieving symptoms is an essential part of care and treatment. This palliative care or supportive care is often started soon after diagnosis and continued throughout treatment. Be sure to talk with your health care team about your symptoms, including any new symptoms or a change in symptoms.

Risk Factors

Risk factors are anything that increases a person's chance of developing cancer. Although risk factors often influence the development of cancer, most do not directly cause cancer. Some people with several risk factors never develop cancer, while others with no known risk factors do. Understanding your risk factors and talking about them with your doctor may help you make informed lifestyle and health care choices.

The following factors may raise a women's risk of developing cancer:

Human papillomavirus (HPV) infection. The most critical risk factor for cervical cancer is infection with HPV. HPV is common. Most people are infected with HPV when they become sexually active, and most people clear the virus without problems. There are over 100 different types of HPV. Not all of them are linked to cancer.

The HPV types, or strains, most frequently associated with cervical cancer are HPV16 and HPV18. Starting to have sex at an earlier age or having multiple sexual partners puts a person at higher risk of being infected with high-risk HPV types.

Immune system deficiency. Women with lowered immune systems have a higher risk of developing cervical cancer. A lowered immune system can be caused by immune suppression from corticosteroid medications, organ transplantation, treatments for other types of cancer, or the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), which causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS).
